Campbell Suffers Big Loss From Flood

Waters of Los Gatos Creek Run Wild Through the Streets and Do Many Thousand Dollars Damage

The town of Campbell has been flooded with water since mid-night last Monday. It has had the appearance of a Venician city, excepting the boats. Old residents say there was quite a flood 20 years ago but it did not compare with the present condition.

Monday evening the bulkhead a mile and a half up the Los Gatos creek gave away and allowed the greater part of the water of the stream to sweep down over the orchards and fields toward Campbell. The water reached town about 11 o'clock and since then every street has been a rushing torrent. Many basements and cellars are full of water and wells have been caving in. Among which are the wells of the Campbell Water Company, which supply the town. The pumps were disabled but to what extent is not known. The supply of water in the tank did not last long. For a few hours it seemed there was a probability of a water famine. However, the Ainsley Packing Company, from which source the town formerly received its water supply, was in shape to connect with the mains and their pumping plant was put to work. Just what damage was done to the town water plant cannot be determined until the wells can be pumped out.

For some days this part of the state had been experiencing a most terrific rain storm. During which Los Gatos received a fall 13.98 inches. In the mountains it was of course much heavier, and consequently the creek was full to overflowing. The weakest point in the banks proved to be the place where the greatest damage was likely to result. The break was on the Clendenning place, and opened up about 300 feet or more of the bank. The land being low and level below this point, a large body of water was soon rushing town the town.

Mr. Clendenning probably lost $1500 worth of orchard land. His neighbor below also suffered a heavy loss. J. F. Ulrich, opposite Mr. Curry's ranch, lost about 500 chicks besides many eggs in the incubators. The current of water reached the railroad along by J. D. Oliver's home. Just what loss Mr. Oliver suffered we have not been able to learn. Across the track Mr. Elison's loss was very heavy, the large number of small chicks in the brooderhouses being killed. C. J. Ringe's fine home was almost carried off its foundation. The basement filled with water and the well caved in. Considerable damage was done in various ways.

The water reached Campbell in a solid stream from the Los Gatos road on the west to the interurban line on the east, one rushing torrent of water. The railroad tracks from Campbell Avenue to near the bridge were all under water. A strong current swept around the corner of Week's market and made its way back into the creek at the stone bridge.

Farmers' Union Packing Co

Mr. P. B. Payne, manager, states that the damage to prunes is very small. Some of them were wet but the evaporator will vestor them to their original condition. The loss on peaches will be about $500. The damaged fruit will need to be sold as low grade, after it has been through the evaporator at the Sorosis farm. Some of the bins were under water about eight inches and all the fruit had to be transferred to bins constructed with false bottoms. About 100 tons of fruit were moved in two days. The building was damaged considerably by settling of the mud sills, which will necessitate considerable expense on the part of the owners.

The Ainsley Packing Company had a large quantity of canned fruit stored in the basement and for fear of its damage a force of men were put to work Tuesday morning at one o'clock removing the fruit. They were able to keep the water from getting into the building and very little loss resulted on the outside.

Out Door Art League

Encourages the Planting of Oaks and the Cultivation of Nature's Beauties

At the recent Old Settlers' celebration much entusiasm was aroused by Judge Gosbey's entertaining recital of the story of the planting and early days of The Alameda, which formed a part of an historical discourse of varied and lively interest.

He dwelt on the successive associations which the old trees perpetuated, a living past within the present, and on the distinction and beauty which this double avenue formerly possessed and conferred.

His address was followed by a suggestion from the Out Door Art League to the orchardists, urging the planting of oaks at irregular intervals along our country roads in order to restore something of the original beauty of the valley.

Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's, had this to say of the progress made by the American Civic Association (of which the Out Door Art League is a branch) in its crusade "for a more beautiful America:"

"One of the highest efforts man can undertake is to make of all the world what nature intended. The day when Americans looked abroad for a standard in all the arts has passed. He ought to take even more seriously than the cultivation of the arts the preservation of those beauties which nature has given to us."

"Back to Nature" the political, economic, and social watchword of the French Revolution has in our own time become law and gospel in matters of beauty and fitness. In Out Door Art we cannot be too observant and humble in following the lead of Nature. She has been experimenting with flower, shrub, and tree for centuries. This has perished, that has survived; this has been dwarfed, that has matured to perfection. She knows what she is about. In her large design there is an interdependence of parts which gives value and significance to every detail.

"All are needed by each one;
Nothing is fair or good alone."

No substitute can fill the place of an original factor. No part can be illuminated without loss. Prof. Jepson of our State University has shown how this principle is illustrated in the composite beauty of the coast valleys of California.

Our own Santa Clara Valley spreads in a level floor surrounded by lowlying, dome-shaped foothill ranges. Originally this valley floor was dotted by oaks and covered in spring with a mass of high mustard and wild oats. Let us endeavor to appreciate the picture. In winter dull shades of neutral tints on the hillsides; and below, the dark live-oaks and the leafless network of branches of the deciduous oaks, were touched into brilliancy by the glow of sunrise and sunset; or darkened into hard deep blue in the cold light of clear midday; or faded fantom like, into the realm of ghosts in an enveloping fog. In spring the same tender green on valley floor and tree and hillside transformed the picture into a vision of light and life and growth over which shifting cloud-shadows and radiant rain-bows played. During the long hall-year summer soft velvet tones of brown and yellow and greenish bronze were echoed back, varied and repeated from the slopes of the "many folded hills by the dry fields of wild oats and the rounded masses of the now dense foliage of all the oaks. From season to season the picture varied in loveliness, but the lines upon which the composition of the landscape depended remained unchanged. The curves of the dome-shaped outlines of the foothills were always repeated; with the rhythm of a song, in the outlines of the dome-shaped masses of the oaks. In the case of the deciduous oaks, the effects of color from season to season answered each other from hill to valley like a chorus, touched to grand accord by the magic of our glorious Californian sun.

The footsteps of civilization inevitably mar primitive beauty. The oaks have been felled to plant the orchards. Some remain, enough to restore the picture to the eye of imagination. Much may be done to actually restore it. If farmers and property owners were to plant deciduous oaks at irregular intervals along our high ways with some native shrubs between, giving the effect of the landscape from a point of vantage would regain much of its original distinction and unique charm.

—"hedge-rows, hardly hedge-rows, little lines
Of sportive wood run wild."

Mrs. Lock Wins Suit Against Feebeck

Mrs. Mary Lock was granted judgment against W. J. Feebeck in Justice Farley's court on Monday afternoon. Feebeck occupies a house on Harrison avenue owned by Mrs. Lock and for several months she has been trying to get the family out. They were notified to vacate but refused, and then the rent was raised from $6 to $15 per month, which they declined to pay. Not only did the tenants try to defraud the poor old woman but abused her most shamefully, as she testified in court. The house occupied by Feebeck adjoins the home of Mrs. Lock. The court ruled that Mr. Feebeck pay triple rent from the first on March and that he surrender possession of the house within ten days. The plaintiff was represented by Wm. A. Bowden and the defense by R. C. McComish. A court case in Campbell is something of a novelty and a large number of people were present witness the proceedings.

Linburg was stopping at a ranchhouse near Cummings and left there early in the morning of January 19th for a trip over the property which he was thinking of purchasing. When he did not return that evening, a searching party was sent out, it being feared that he had perished in the snow.

President Taft Issues Call For An Extra Session

Washington.—The Sixty-first Congress came to an end shortly after noon Saturday and within two hours the President issued a call for an extra session to meet on April 4th.

The results of larger interests that were brought to a conclusion and passed were the following:

Provision of $3,000,000 for the fortification of the Panama canal.

Provision for two new battleships.

Recodification of the judicial code—regarded as most important for the amelioration of the law's delays.

Creation of forest reserves in the Appalachian and White mountains.

Provision for the construction of embassy and legation buildings abroad.

Provision requiring inspection of locomotive boilers.

Creating Robert E. Peary a Rear-Admiral on the retired list of the navy and formally tendering the thanks of Congress to him.

Creating a committee of five Senators and five Representatives to investigate conditions in Alaska.

The important measures that were side-stepped and filibustered, and much of which demands this call for an extra session, are as follows:

Failure of the Canadian reciprocity agreement and consequent certainty of an extra session.

Failure of the permanent tariff board bill, which passed the Senate, but was killed by a filibuster in the House.

Failure of the resolution to admit to Statehood Arizona and New Mexico, by a filibuster in the Senate.

Failure of the proposal to increase the rate of postage on the advertising sections of the large magazines; but a commission provided for to investigate the subject.

Failure of the resolution providing for the direct election of United States Senators.

Failure of the general age pension bill.

Failure to act on the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation reports.

Failure to enact the ocean mail subsidy, passed by the Senate alone.

Failure of the effort to unseat William Lorimer as Senator from Illinois on the grounds of alleged bribery in his election.

Failure of bill fixing canal tolls and settling form of government for canal zone.

Failure of Congressional reapportionment bill based on the new census.

Some of the Bills That are Emerging as Laws

Sacramento.—Governor Johnson has signed another of the batch of bills, Assembly bill No. 62, which Assemblyman Beatty presented. It amends section 1251 of the code of civil procedure so as to afford San Francisco time to issue bonds to pay for property required for its water system or other purposes, which must be obtained by eminent domain proceedings. San Francisco is now in a position to get the Spring Valley property by condemnation. By the new law it is allowed six months in which to issue and sell bonds to pay the assessed price. Formerly the time was 30 days.

Assemblyman McDonald of San Francisco rushed through the House Senator Hare's bill directed at the cold storage people and opposed by the representatives of the poultry-raising districts. The bill makes it compulsory for dealers to label eggs and butter that have been in cold storage more than three months, showing just how long they have been in cold storage. Hamilton of Petaluma, who represents the great egg-producing district of t e State, spoke against the bill and was assisted by Slater of Santa Rosa. The bill passed with a vote of 47 to 9. The bill now awaits the Governor's signature.

The Assembly of California is opposed to employing convict labor in the construction of the great $18,000,000 highway system made possible by the votes of the people last November. The Assembly's emphatic opposition to the convict labor idea was recorded in the vote of 46 to 20 by which Hamilton's bill was defeated.

California went on record as demanding that United States Senators be elected by the direct vote of the people. Senator Sanford's joint resolution requesting Congress to call a convention for the purpose of submitting an amendment to the Federal constitution on this question was adopted unanimously by the Assembly.

The Senate passed a concurrent resolution calling upon the Government to favor the institution of a parcels post.

Governor Names 4 on Panama Exposition Committee

Sacramento.—Governor Johnson sent to the Legislature the following appointments as members of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition of the State of California: Matt I. Sullivan of San Francisco, Chester H. Rowell of Fresno, R. Cameron Rogers of Santa Barbara and Marshall Stimson of Los Angeles. Sullivan is named as president of the commission. Sullivan and Stimson are lawyers, Rowell is editor of the Fresno Republican and Rogers of the Santa Barbara Press. Speaking of these appointments, Governor Johnson said: "I think this commission embraces an intellectuality possessed by few commissions and a civic idealism or a governmental view, if you choose to put it that way, that is the most advanced and highest.

"The design of the commission of which ex-officio I am a member will be to lend every aid and assistance to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition and to make that exposition the greatest in the history of the world. The commission, of course, will have charge of the $5,000,000 voted by the people of California. Our first duty will be to see that the money is expended for the exact purpose for which it was voted by the people."

Widows and Divorcees Record Pales the Coy Maiden

Sacramento.—From the State records it is noticable that the California maiden is not coming into her own. The "merry widows," some of whom have passed the "grass" stage as often as five times, are the ones who keep our marriage statistics where they are.

There are about one-third more marriages of widows and divorcees with bachelors than between single women and widowed or divorced men. The figures supporting the fact were made known by Statistician Leslie of the State's Bureau of Vital Statistics.

In California last year there were 2732 marriages between bachelors and widows or divorcees as compared with only 1996 marriages between single women and widowed or divorced men. The unions of bachelors with widows outnumbered those of maids with widowers by 736 or 36.9 per cent for 1910. The corresponding per cent was 31.9 for 1909, 41.9 for 1908, 33.2 for 1907 and 33.7 for 1906.

Young Girl Horsethief on Five Years Probation

Oakland.—With the distinct understanding that she could not leave Oakland for five years, Judge William S. Wells of the criminal department admitted Dawn Fisher, the 19-year-old romantic little horsethief, to probation for that length of time.

Little Miss Fisher evinced no emotion throughout the trial, but her father, J. B. Fisher, a Los Angeles real estate dealer, pleaded long and earnestly with the Judge for the custody of his little wayward daughter. He tried to impress on the court that she would be better taken care of in her own home than in Oakland under the charge of the probation officer. Judge Wells, however, was obdurate and said that she was fortunate in not having been sent to the penitentiary for that time.

She was arrested in Sacramento for stealing a horse from Miss Beatrice Graham, who conducted a riding academy in Oakland.

MANY EASTERN FAMILIES TO INVADE CALIFORNIA

Advance Representative Will Invest Half Million Dollars in Homes.

San Francisco.—The destinies of almost 100 families and the half million dollars they wish to invest lies in the control of Adolph Sterk. He was sent out to California to investigate conditions and to report in Brooklyn and New York.

Sterk visited the bureaus in the ferry building, gathering up a huge armful of literature, which he mailed east. He has sent almost a thousand postcards to New York, and says that he finds California every bit as good as it is portrayed.

"These people in the east are all friends of mine, with money to invest here. I've written that things are just as good as we have been told. The people want to establish businesses, chicken and fruit farms and other lines of trade."

Water Spouts and Wind Blows.

Santa Barbara.—A water spout, first seen about five miles out at sea last Sunday afternoon, came into shore at great speed, and after striking the bluff on the outskirts of Santa Barbara, played havoc with property on La Mesa. The column of wind was about ten feet in diameter. At Captain G. D. Prescott's house, about 1000 feet from the bluff, the wind twisted up several oak trees and went to Mrs. Rosa Adrian's place, where it whirled off the top of the water tank. At the Chinese camp it rooted up two oak trees and pulled the vines off the Ball house. At the Wheeler ranch it played havoc with the chicken houses, gathering them up and landing them in its wake.

Normal School for Fresno.

Sacramento.—A State normal school at Fresno is provided for in a bill passed by the Senate. The bill carries with it an appropriation for $25,000 to conduct the school until the Legislature meets again, but there is no appropriation for buildings or grounds. This is because the Fresno citizens will donate the grounds, and the normal school will be conducted in the high school until the working of the new tax amendment warrants the State making the appropriaton for the buildings. The normal courses will begin October 1st.

Lightning Starts Fire.

Fresno.—The residence of R. A. Powell near Clovis was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. A seven-year-old boy in the house when the bolt hit it tried to save some playthings and was severely scorched. When the flames were discovered about 100 students of the Clovis high school formed a bucket brigade and fought the flames. With their assistance the occupants of the house saved about half their furniture.

Murderer Refuses Liberty.

Springfield, Mo.—Although under sentence to hang this month, Eugene Tucker, recently convicted on a charge of murder, refused to escape from the county jail here when given the opportunity. Two other prisoners forced their way out of the jail, and, although they stopped and pleaded with Tucker to join them, he refused to do so. The prisoners who escaped were later captured.

Tumbles Into Creek.

San Leandro.—Losing his balance as he was standing on the high bridge spanning the San Leandro creek, James Dowd, 15-year-old son of Frank Dowd, fell 30 feet to the creek bed, fracturing a leg and sustaining internal injuries. He lay there for half an hour before being discovered by his mother, who slid into the creek and rescued him.

Parcel Post Plan Killed.

Washington.—Plans of the Postoffice Department for the establishment of a parcels post as an experiment have been defeated in the Senate on a point of order raised by Senator Bailey, which struck from the postoffice appropriation bill an item of $50,000 designed to put the proposed system into effect on April 1st.

Portland Suffers by Fire.

Portland, Or.—The plant of the Oregon and Washington Lumber Company, one of the largest mills in the city, was totally destroyed by fire. The plant of the Gold Medal Shingle Mill and the Multnomah Lumber and Box Company also burned. The loss exceeds $150,000.

Cholera in Honolulu.

Honolulu.—A new case of cholera developed Sunday, making a total of 19 cases and 15 deaths since the disease first appeared here. The schools in one district have been closed as a precautionary measure.

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for special advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

One of the most exquisitely finished discoveries in Egypt is a case of neatly fitting alabaster embalming instruments, taken from a tomb 5,000 years old. BARN DOOR WORTH SAVING Farmer Dockridge Rescued It From the Flames, for It Bore His Accounts for Six Years.

Farmer Dockridge was hastily awakened in the dead of night by Alf, the farm servant, who told him the barn was on fire. Instructing Alf to blindfold the horses and lead them out through the back door if there was time enough, he hurriedly donned his trousers, rushed into the kitchen, grabbed up a screw driver and ran out to the barn.

The roof was burning fiercely, but he dashed into the building and began with frantic haste to unscrew the hinges of the smooth pine door that opened into the corn bin.

Alf had succeeded in getting the horses out safely, and the sparks were falling round the old man, but he stuck to his task until he had finished it, and emerged from the burning barn carrying the door just as the roof fell in.

"That's a good deal of risk to take for the sake of saving a bit of firewood," commented a neighbor who had been awakened by the flames and had run over to see if he could be of any use.

"Firewood!" exclaimed Farmer Dockridge, pointing to the pencil marks that covered the door. "See them figgers? There's all my business accounts for the last six years. That door's worth more than the whole barn!"—London Telegraph.

The Printed Letter Head.

A Few Words on Loafing.

Don't loaf. Idleness is the root of much evil, and uncheerfulness is one of the shoots from the root. There is no such thing as idleness in nature. The worlds that glitter in the arch of the heavens are ever moving. The moon never stays in one place. The restless sea moans in and out over the harbor bar. The rivers gurgle and splash as they journey to the sea. The trees change their costumes twice a year, and grow a little throughout most of the year. The birds never roost at noonday, and man is the only animal who oversleeps himself.

Her Savings Bank.

During a furious storm in Paris a janitor was struck on the shoulder by a small but heavy tin box which had fallen from an upper story of a house in the Rue l'Quest. The box was found to contain $6,000 in gold and notes. It was claimed at the police station by an elderly woman, who said that the money constituted her entire savings, which she had hidden by tying the box to the drain-pipe outside her window.

Dog's Faithfulness.

The story of a dog's fidelity was told when the coroner for North Westmoreland (Eng.) held an inquest on the body of William Wharton, a Westmoreland old age pensioner, who dropped down dead after recording his vote in the Parliamentary election. Wharton, who lived alone at Shap, walked to Morland to vote, and set off home again late at night. Next morning half a dozen woodmen found the body by the roadside in a gutter. The old man's dog was lying over the body and guarding it. The body had lain there all the night in stormy weather. Information was given to the police, but when an attempt was made to touch the body the dog became so ferocious that no one dared go near it, and before the dead man could be removed the officers had to send for the old man's neighbor, who knew the dog, and succeeded in coaxing it to quietness.

Combines Telephone and Clock.

The average office equipment of the present day calls for a number of wires entering the place, public and private telephones, messenger calls, electric clock and similar conveniences. In order to cut down the number of these a new electrical invention combines the telephone and the clock, the same wires being utilized for each of these functions. The clock and telephone are mounted together on the same base, and after being placed on the wall the clock requires no further attention, such as winding and setting.

Curse of Unrest.

He who is in perfect peace suspects no man; but he who is discontented and disturbed is tossed about with various suspicions; he is neither at rest himself nor does he suffer others to rest. He often says that which he should not say and omits that which it would be better for him to do. He considers what others are bound to do and neglects that to which he himself is bound.—Thomas a Kempis.

Very Curious.

A golf player who had been badly beaten by his opponent explained to him that he had been suffering all day from neuritis. "It's a curious thing," replied his opponent, "but I've never beaten a man in perfect health in my life."

SPEAKING VOICE IMPORTANT

When Its Correct Use Has Been Learned the Development of the Singer Is Easier.

Few singers, students, or even teachers of singing, pay enough attention to the speaking voice. The teacher and his pupil are together so little—a brief half-hour or two each week—and there are so many things demanding attention that there seems almost no time for consideration of the speaking voice. Yet consistency demands that a bad habit of voice use in speech shall be corrected so that the use of the voice in conversation shall not retard the perfection of the singing voice.

I am often asked if the process of tone production is the same in speaking and singing. I answer that it should be the same. When the voice is correctly used in speech it will require not different, but merely amplified treatment for singing. Unquestionably the young person who has a correct use of voice in speech will find it less difficult to develop a good singing voice, than one who has an incorrect habit.

Deep breath control, pliable organs of articulation, and full, or complete, vowel pronunciation, are the fundamental requisites of correct speech and correct singing alike. When the speaking voice of a singer is not so produced, its use in conversation is sure to retard the perfection of the singing tone.

The Siamese Cat.

Siamese cats, with their curious markings and loud, discordant voices, are favorite pets.

In many respects these animals of Siamese breed are unique among felines. They follow their owners like dogs; they are exceedingly affectionate and insist upon attention, and they mew loudly and constantly, as if trying to talk. They have more vivacity and less dignity than usually falls to the lot of cats.

In color they vary from pale fawn through shades of brown to chocolate. There are two varieties, the temple cats and the palace cats, the principal difference between the two being that the palace breed is darker in color.

"Filthy Lucre."

The expression "filthy lucre" is of biblical origin, and is to be found in the third chapter of the first book of Timothy, where the qualifications necessary for the office of a bishop are thus set forth: "This is a true saying. If a man desireth the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work. A bishop must then be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behavior, given to hospitality, apt to teach; not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre; but patient, not a brawler, nor covetous."

Was His Nest.

Housework Drudgery

Housework is drudgery for the weak woman. She brushes, dusts and scrubs, or is on her feet all day attending to the many details of the household, her back aching, her temples throbbing, nerves quivering under the stress of pain, possibly dizzy feelings. Sometimes rest in bed is not refreshing, because the poor tired nerves do not permit of refreshing sleep. The real need of weak, nervous women is satisfied by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

This "Prescription" removes the cause of women's weaknesses, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures those weaknesses so peculiar to women. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces restful sleep.

Dr. Pierce is perfectly willing to let every one know what his "Favorite Prescription" contains, a complete list of ingredients on the bottle-wrapper. Do not let any unscrupulous druggist persuade you that his substitute of unknown composition is "just as good" in order that he may make a bigger profit. Just smile and shake your head!

MOST IMPORTANT SECRET OF SUCCESSFUL DRY FARMING

How Farmers Succeed in Saving Every Ounce of Moisture.

The secret of the new "dry-farming" is the preservation of every bit of moisture deposited in the soil during the season of rains. Soil moisture moves upward, as oil climbs a lamp wick, by capillary attraction. To keep the moisture from evaporating at the surface is the problem of the "dry farmer." He solves this problem by repeated processes of cultivation. Deep plowing, harrowing the surface as fast as plowed, and then harrowing it after each rain until ready to seed, drilling seed in deeply, and then, still harrowing after every rain until the crop is too far advanced to make this safe, are the main features of "dry farming."

Some Korean Superstitions.

The wildest superstitions are rife among the natives of Korea, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine. Everything is ascribed to the good or evil influences of invisible spirits, whom they strive to propitiate by incessant and petty sacrifices. The serpent is revered as sacred and fed as a domestic pet. Marriage is a question of etiquette and is arranged by the parents. A live goose is given as a betrothal gift, as a symbol of fidelity and long life. Filial piety is cultivated to a remarkable degree, a son considering it his duty to follow his father to prison or exile. Sacrifices of pigs, sheep and goats are offered to the firmament, to which they pray for rain or fair weather and the removal of plague and misfortune.

Prohibition Does Not Prohibit

The following letter, received last week, was to have had some attention in this issue, especially Mr. Smith's plan, given below. After considering the facts given in this and adjoining columns, we do not see the necessity of adding anything else. The statistics will readily show whether or not prohibition prohibits. If it is true, as many liquor men maintain, that more liquor is consumed under prohibition rule, then please explain why the whiskey men are spending so much money to defeat all prohibitory laws. Read and judge.

Editor of the Press,
Dear Sir:—

Prohibition has been in force in some states for fifty or more years and never has prohibited. I would suggest that you "get next to yourself" and be progressive by advocating Mr. Smith's plan. It certainly would close up the "blind pigs" and that is where our boys learn to drink. They would be ashamed to be seen to enter a public place where liquor was openly sold.

Yours Truly, —. —.

Mr. Smith's Plan—Cheap Liquor

Editor Woman's National Daily: I saw an article in The Daily on "Temperance" which I think would do much to reduce the evil of drunkards. Take off all license and revenue and allow any one to sell it that wants to. It would soon be so common and cheap that saloons would close up and no one would care to handle it for a living. Do that or make it a fine of $10 for a man to treat any one in a saloon. Have them open to full view—no blinds or screens to hide any one—then a man would go in and take his drink and go out sober. It is the social evil of treating that causes men to get drunk. There is no hope of prohibition ever doing any good to stop drinking while the revenue and license and social drinking is allowed. Get some one to commence the new crusade, if you would banish the evil from our land. The younger generation would grow up sober men and women. Sixty-five years ago when I was a boy every one had a barrel of whiskey in his house if he wanted it and sold it to his neighbors at 25 cents a gallon—better whiskey than can be got now for 40 cents a gallon. Then no one got drunk, no one wanted to; but after the war a big tax was put on all drinks, saloons had to pay big licenses and bad whisky is today made in the saloons, a vile concoction of drugs that make men crazy. Get your Woman's Christian Temperance Union women to go to work right and then they will do some good for the rising generation and also for the present one. I merely give this as a suggestion. I am now an old man.

Missouri. J. W. SMITH.

In Massachusetts Cities

67 per cent more crime in license cities than in no-license cities.

133 per cent more drunkenness in license cities.

80 per cent more pauperism in license cities.

150 per cent more child labor in license cities.

20 per cent less pupils in high schools in license cities.

Tax rates $1.09 more per $1,000 in license cities.

20 per cent less money for streets in license cities.

30 per cent less money for schools in license cities.

67 per cent growth of taxable property in no-license cities.

80 per cent faster industrial growth in no-license cities.

90 per cent faster growth in population in no-license cities.

Indebtedness in proportion to valuation one-fifth greater in license cities.

The above facts are taken from the official records of the state of Massachusetts.

A "Dry" Legislature

The Sacramento Bee says: Say, the old-timers in the Capitol are missing something. They are like a bunch of lost sheep, for no "nips" and "sips" and good healthy "gulps" of liquor may be taken between times. Strange as it may seem, there is not a drop of "booze" to be had on the Assembly side of the Capitol. The Senate side has always been "dry." The Sergeant-at-Arms has none of the stuff, and, what is more, he has told some who ventured to ask where the "chest" was, that there will be no wet goods on tap this session in his department.

Thirty cases of whiskey, not to mention cigars and other things, were distributed during the last session to Assembly members and those in on the game. But this year there is a vastly different class of men in the lower house. They are not boozers, and the onlooker gazes wide-eyed and wonders mightily.

Prohibition Prohibits Some Things

If Prohibition does not prohibit, how can the Chief Justice of North Carolina point to a decease in crime of 50 per cent during the two years of State wide Prohibition over the two previous years.

If Prohibition doesn't prohibit, why do the criminal and health records of Worcester, Mass., the largest city in the world that ever voted "dry," for the two "dry" years, 1906-1907, compared with the two "wet" years, 1908-1909, show the following:

No license decreased arrests 24 per cent.

No license decreased arrests for assault and battery 18 per cent.

No license decreased arrests for drunkenness 42 per cent.

Why do the health records show that no license decreased the number of alcoholic cases 35 per cent.

No license decreased deaths from alcoholism 66 1-3 per cent.

If Prohibition doesn't prohibit why does Booker T. Washington say "Crime among the colored population has been decreasing ever since State-wide Prohibition was inaugurated. The negro is saving more money and paying more attention to educational matters."

If Prohibition doesn't prohibit why has "wet" Nevada 304 prisoners per 100,000 of population, and Prohibition Oklahoma only four prisoners per 100,000 of population?

Why has "wet" Nevada 472 insane per 100,000 of population and Prohibition North Dakota 122 insane per 100,000 of population?

Why has "wet" Nevada 403 paupers per 100,000 of population and Prohibition Kansas only 52 paupers per 100,000 of population?

(These figures were taken from the special reports of the Bureau of the Census, pages 7 and 14.)

Legislature After Saloons

No former legislature ever had before it so many Anti-liquor bills. The Saloons are the objects of a general attack. The people are getting their eyes open.

The following Anti Liquor bills have been introduced in the present legislature:

1—The Local Option bill.
2—The Anti-treating bill.
3—The bill to destroy blind pigs.
4—The bill to require drinkers to pay a license.
5—The bill forbidding girls to act as bar maids.
6—The bill to limit saloons to 1 to 1000 population.
7—The bill to limit saloons to 1 to 500 population.
8—The bill to require saloons to pay a state tax.
9—The bill forbidding display signs by the liquor traffic.

Some of these are introduced in order to kill the local option bill, which is the bill the traffic most fears; some of the others are commendable.

BREVITIES

Campbell has lost its reputation as a "dry" town.

The "dry" statistics in this issue of the Press should be appreciated after the wet conditions of the past few days.

A system of government that permits officials to neglect their duties for six months while they get out and "campaign"—using the taxpayers' money—to gain re-election, is wrong.

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good." B. O. Curry states that the flood water left a fine "slicken" on his orchard that is worth $500 to him. Wm. Beattie was benefited in a similar manner. Probably many others.

Great indignation was felt throughout the community this week because of the tardiness of the supervisors to get to the scene of the disaster and attempt some methods toward relieving the situation before so much damage had been done.

The Bank of Campbell began business last Monday morning in their fine new building. They now have a building that would be a credit to a city of 100,000 population. Next week we will give our readers a description of the equipment throughout.

Friend C. J. Ringe has been getting his share of hard knocks. When a railroad engineer in Missouri he got badly hurt in a wreck After coming to California the earthquake shook him to pieces, and this week he nearly got washed off the earth. All who know Mr. Ringe recognize him as a man with "staying" qualities.

The people are requested to be economical in the use of water as the wells of the Water Company have been so damaged that it may be some time before they can again be put in use. Since Tuesday afternoon the supply has been furnished by the Ainsley Packing Co, and if everybody will be careful there will be sufficient water.

LOST—A brown felt hat, by a small man on stilts as he was wading homeward down Central avenue. Hat last seen as it passed the Congregational church traveling at the rate of ten miles an hour—more or less. If the finder will return the hat to this office in its original condition he will be rewarded by one year's subscription to the paper and will receive a favorable mention in the next issue.

A good many thousand dollars were expended on the roads in this vicinity last fall just before election. If a few hundred of that money had been used on the banks of the Los Gatos creek to repair the dangerous places this calamity would not have occurred. The responsible parties cannot plead ignorance of the conditions, as various ones of the level headed ranchers in the neighborhood state that they had repeatedly warned the supervisors of the danger at that point. Money expended back on the creek banks, however, would not make much of a showing before the public during the excitement previous to election.

Entertained the Choir

The choir of the Congregational church and a few friends were most delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Duncan last Friday evening. Jolly games were played, after which Mr. W. E. Johnson of San Jose sang several beautiful solos, which were most heartily enjoyed by every one present. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening. Besides the choir, there were present, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan, Mr. W. E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Robson, Mr. and Mrs. Ainsley, Dr. T. L. Blanchard, Mr. Atkinson, and Mrs. Morris.
